

Planning Your Pack's Annual Program Budget

What is the unit budget plan? Like all budgets it is a guide on how the Pack plans to fund its program year. It is a conversation before the program year begins on what expenses the Pack is going to pay for and how income will be earned to pay for those expenses. The result is a well-managed, well-financed unit.

The steps to planning your pack's annual budget are:

1. Plan the pack's annual program calendar.
2. Develop a budget that includes enough income to deliver the program as planned.
3. Identify all sources of income dues and fund-raisers and then determine the amount of product sale and the sales goal per youth member that will be needed to reach the income goal.
4. Share the budget with everyone to gain commitments from parents, leaders, and all Cub Scouts.

A healthy pack develops an annual budget and creates its financial policies before the program year begins. They keep to the plan for the entire program year. Following these steps will not only produce a pack budget it will also help your pack determine some important financial policies.

BASIC EXPENSES

1] Registration Fees. When a child joins a pack normally the pack collects the national registration fee*. If the Cub Scout joined using on-line registration the family pays their national registration fees directly.

The national registration fee is $33 for an annual membership. Based on when your pack re-charters, new members when they first join your pack may pay a pro-rated fee.

Check with your local council on how they handle registration fees for new Cub Scouts in the fall and how it impacts re-charter.

2] Unit Liability Insurance Fee. Packs annually pay a unit liability insurance fee of $40. This fee may be covered by your chartered partner. This fee is submitted with the pack's annual charter application and helps to defray the expenses for their general liability insurance.

3] Boys' Life. Boys' Life magazine, the official publication of the Boy Scouts of America, is available to all members at $12, which is half the newsstand rate. (Prorated fees are available for youth who join a unit during the year.) Every Scout should subscribe to Boys' Life because of the quality reading and the articles related to your unit's monthly program. It is part of a child's growth in Scouting and provides a monthly connection to Scouting.

4] Unit Accident Insurance. Protecting leaders and parents from financial hardship due to high medical bills from an unfortunate accident is a must for all involved in Scouting. Specific details on insurance programs are available from the local council.

5] Advancement and Recognition. Every Cub Scout should earn and advance a rank and receive the patch for that rank each year. Cub Scouts will earn Adventure Loops and Pins in addition to other awards. Dens and leaders may also qualify for awards and recognition.

6] Activities. Well-conceived and well-planned activities are critical to a successful annual program plan. Special pack activities like Pinewood Derby, Blue and Gold Banquet, and holiday parties should be built into the budget to avoid asking families to pay to participate.

7] Cub Scout Day Camp, Cub Scout Resident Camp, Council Organized Family Camps.

Cub Scouting provides great opportunities for families to camp. Your pack may plan to cover all or some of the expenses for families to attend a council organized Cub Scout camping experience in addition to Pack Overnights.

8] Program Materials. Each pack should provide certain program materials. Depending on the type of unit program, these could include den meeting supplies, craft tools and supplies, U.S. flag, pack and den flags, pine wood derby track, videos and books, or ceremonial props.

9] Training Expenses. Trained leaders are key to delivering a quality and safe program. Adult and youth leader training should be considered an integral annual pack expense. Providing the cost for adult leaders to attend training removes a potential barrier for adult leaders to continue their learning journey in Scouting.

* The same rate applies for registered adult Scouters.

10] Scout Assistance. Traditionally, the individual pays for the cost of scouting like the uniform. Your pack may have families that find the costs of Scouting beyond their financial means. Consider funds to assist these families.

11] Reserve Fund. The reserve fund should be intended for unexpected expenses. At times items in the budget may cost more than expected, a well planned budget has room for these situations.

12] Other Expenses. These could include a gift to the World Friendship Fund, snacks, or other expenses your pack may have.

SOURCES OF INCOME

Well planned fund-raisers will help prevent having to ask families for extra money every week. It is better to figure the total cost for the complete year up front. How your pack generates income is an important discussion topic with the pack committee and families in your pack. Most find a balance of dues and fund-raisers.

Some Important Points:

Paying your own way. This is a fundamental principle of the Boy Scouts of America. It is one of the reasons why no solicitations (requests for contributions from individuals or the community) are permitted by Cub Scout packs. Young people in Scouting are taught early on that if they want something in life, they need to earn it. The finance plan of any pack should include participation of the Cub Scouts.

An annual pack participation fee if completely contributed by parents, does little to teach a Cub Scout responsibility.

Except for council-sponsored product sales, all other money-earning projects require the submission of the Unit Money-Earning Application, No. 34427, to the local council. To ensure conformity with all Scouting standards on money earning, leaders should be familiar with the eight guides listed on the back of the application, on the last page of this planning guide, and in the financial record books.

OTHER HELPS

Additional information concerning pack budget plans, the treasurer's responsibility, and records can be found in the Cub Scout Leader Book.

The Pack Operating Budget Worksheet

To develop the pack budget, complete the worksheet with the unit leader and committee at the pack's annual program planning conference, and then share it with the Cub Scouts' parents. Be sure to keep parents involved and informed. The pack's program calendar and budget information needs to be communicated regularly to families, especially at the start of the program year. By sharing the pack's program plans and budgetary needs, you can help newly recruited Cub Scouts and their parents gain a greater understanding of just what fun is waiting for them during the pack's entire program year.
